SATURDAY, JULY 30: Getting Technical – Pre-Prepared Presentations and Field Trip Case Study

Field Trips (concurrent) 12:00-5:00 PM Cowell Circle

BOXED LUNCH WILL BE DISTRIBUTED TO CONFERENCE ATTENDEES AND FIELD TRIP PARTICIPANTS PRIOR TO BOARDING CHARTER BUSES

ALBA (Agriculture and Land-Based Training Association)

Salinas Valley, CA www.albafarmers.org

ALBA, a non-profit farm education and business incubator program, hosts the Programa Educativo para Pequeños Agricultores (PEPA), a 9-month program with instruction and field-based training for farm workers to learn how to establish small organic farm businesses, and the Organic Farm Incubator (OFI), in which PEPA graduates start their second year of the program, gaining affordable access to land, equipment, and technical assistance over 4 years. ALBA Organics, a social enterprise food hub within the larger non-profit, markets the farmers' organic strawberries and vegetables commercially.

O'Donahue Family Stanford Educational Farm

Palo Alto, CA <https://earth.stanford.edu/farm/>

A six-acre urban teaching farm at Stanford University features pilot project for U-pick CSA, environmental education program for local fifth graders, and a living laboratory for sustainable agriculture.

Pie Ranch

Pescadero, CA <http://www.pieranch.org/>

Pie Ranch is an organic farm and nonprofit education center focused on food education, farmer training, and regional partnerships. On its combined 87 acres, it hosts the Emerging Farmers Program in organic farming and animal husbandry, and a 60-member CSA that engages large organizations and universities with the goal of establishing such programs with our partner school districts.

Swanton Pacific Ranch

Davenport, CA www.spranch.calpoly.edu

Swanton Pacific Ranch is a 3,200-acre Ranch owned by Cal Poly State University and managed by its College of Agriculture, Food & Environmental Sciences. The Ranch hosts production of certified natural and grass-fed beef, certified organic herbs and row crops, "U-pick" organic apples, certified sustainable forests, salmon and wildlife research. The field trip includes a ride on the historic Swanton Pacific Railroad miniature (1/3 scale) steam train.
